SAMUEL JOHNSON 170

and

JAMES BOSWELL 1740-

Samuel Johnson

Doctor Samuel Johnson was the literary dictator of the last half of the eighteenth century. A picturesque figure — huge, shambling, scarred of face, thunderous of voice, and slovenly of dress — Johnson drew about him the most talented men of his age. He was the oracle of the famous Literary Club, which included David Garrick, the actor; Sir Joshua Reynolds, the painter; Oliver Goldsmith, the poet and novelist; Richard Sheridan, the dramatist; Edmund Burke, the statesman and defender of America; Adam Smith, the econ-

Ann Roher

Robert Gorman

The W.H.S. English department is designed to give students the opportunity to study many different literary concepts. Students become familiar with many classics in the new European Literature course offered only to seniors for one semester. Many classes study the works of Shakespeare, while others examined American and Modern Literature. Students develop writing skills and learn to appreciate different types of literature through compositions, critical evaluations, and research papers.

These sophomores work to finish a test before the bell.

Linguists Try To Understand

Wadsworth's up to date foreign language department stimulates interest in other nations.

Spanish students took a field trip to view a special display of Mexican Art. The French club visited the Cleveland Art Museum. Latin students enjoyed bowling at the Kolony.

This year, the Spanish club adopted a young boy from the Philippines. French students took up a collection for the needy children in Haiti.

These activities create an atmosphere for learning not only the language, but the background and culture of the people as well.

Marci Wertz, Debbie Miller, Debbie Wheatly, Dottie Rudolf, and Laurie Friese look on as Mrs. Gairing shows them slides of France.

Science Is Vital For Progress

Science stimulates sleeping minds. It opens the world around us and augments our appreciation of it. Science probes and seeks to know why—from the smallest atom to the miracle of life. Science takes given elements and through the miracle of knowledge, creates man-made wonders of dazzling proportion. Science. . .stimulates sleeping minds.

Being the language of science, mathematics might be considered the key to the universe. Math is an exercise in logic and clear reasoning and therefore invaluable for training the mind to think and reason well. Of course, math is also necessary for many practical things such as computing student's grades and income tax.

The most exciting addition to the math department this year is an Olivetti P602 computer. Junior and senior math students have been granted the privilege of using this machine during any of their study halls. After only one half day of use, the computer did not work at all. Later, a new computer, which works fine, was sent to the school. As rumor has it, Mr. Schrock used it to compute the grades of all his students.

Mr. Schrock is known not only for his witticism but also for his extraordinary neckties.

A geometry student makes invaluable use of a compass.

John Pirman, Laura Jewell, and Eric Gunderson concentrate on geometric concepts.

History—Kaleidoscope Of Life

History has fascinated man for centuries. He has a kaleidoscope of events recorded at his fingertips; civilizations fall, kings are born, presidents are assassinated, and nations are welded from the earth. World History students examine ancient cultures and modern civilization. The U.S. History course includes a study of our forefathers up to the present day. Seniors better understand business and management through economic classes. Government points out our national, state and local problems.

"Persistence makes perfect" is Karol Hawley's motto.

Again this year art students had a chance to develop their talent and creativity. Art was offered at various levels—Art I, II, and III. In these classes originality and skill are stressed. Many students exhibited their work in area art shows, where they were on display for all art lovers to appreciate.

Drafting, machine shop, printing, and electronics are all included under the Industrial Arts head. Approximately 20 students are included in each of these fields of education.

Each course is a study of materials and processes in areas of power, communications, and fabrication. The student is involved in applied applications of principles studied in other disciplines, thus helping the student to better understand our industrial society and how he may better apply himself in that society.

Learning the basic elements of sewing and cooking is not the only thing home economics students do. They also complete units of study in Consumer Ed., Child Care, Home Management and Home Furnishings. Students receive 1¼ credits for one year of Home Economics. The State of Ohio requires each student to complete a home project. These projects extend the classroom into the home for more practical experience. Projects range from refinishing or upholstering chairs and making furniture from electric cord spools to preparing meals or doing laundry. Home projects permit the student to use his creative ingenuity.

C. Plunkett knows how well a child loves to tell a secret.

Twenty-eight enthusiastic students, one dedicated teacher, five "little schools" and hundreds of children comprised an organization called Teacher Aides. Being an aide meant meeting at 7:15 every morning for the related class, but it also meant spending three hours per day with a classroom or playground full of bouncing, adorable children. No one could be an aide and not learn to love kids, not to mention understanding them, too.

In November of 1972, the Teacher Aides sponsored a profitable Donkey Basketball Game. With some of the money made from the game and from dues, the aides were able to treat their employers at the annual Vocational Banquet at the Cascade Plaza.

The final activity for some of the aides was an adventurous excursion down the Mohican River in (and out!) a canoe.

The 1973 Teacher Aides were: S. Bailey, P. Brown, A. Colic, C. Crowley, T. Durst, V. Eewing, L. Farnsworth, L. Halterman, J. Henderson, D. Huffman, D. Kilgour, C. Koval, J. Kreider, B. McMahon, J. Juniors observe, hoping to follow the example set by the seniors. Mrs. Bayduke teaches the basic skills of pin curl, roller placement, permanents, frosting, finger waving, manicures and facials to the juniors.

Teaching more advanced skills to the seniors is Mrs. Straub. In the second year, as seniors, cosmetology students combine the skills they learned as juniors and work on customers. Usually five hours each day is spent working on customers.

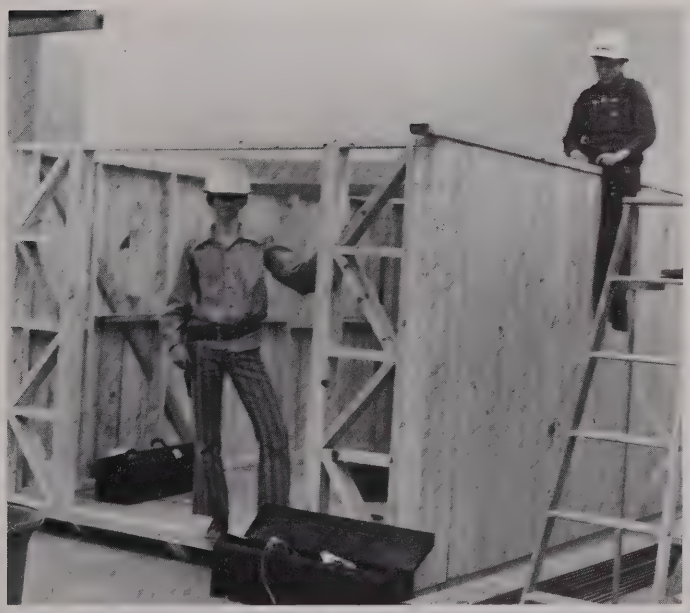
New Building Houses Carpentry



Mike Trease and Ron Keller work on the construction of one of the storage barn's frames.

The carpentry students at W.H.S. worked throughout the year learning the basic principles of carpentry, including the use of hand and power tools. The vocational building opened this fall, provided a well equipped area for the carpentry students. The junior carpentry class used these tools to construct barns for their yearly project. These barns are sold to people of the community for storage or decoration at a cost of $380. This project also enables the juniors to gain experience in learning how to frame a house. The knowledge and experience gained by these students is put to use in the actual construction of a house in the senior year. The home built by this year's seniors will sell in the range of $40,000 and is located on Farr Ave. This valuable training is a beginning for profitable careers in carpentry after graduation.

Distributive education is a program of instruction in merchandising, marketing, and management which trains people for careers in retailing, wholesaling and service establishments. It is a partnership between schools, owners and managers of business. The students work several hours per day in local businesses which cooperate in the DE Program, such as Ben Franklin's, Conley's and some grocery stores. DECA is a student-centered organization for leadership and personal development of vocational DE students. Mr. Petty's main objective is to develop an awareness of and competence in today's free enterprise system. D.E.'s fund-raising project, Big Time Wrestling, was quite successful.

As always, the grand finale of the season is the High School Choir's spring production. This year's production, called Something Old, Something New, exhibited all kinds of talent that satisfied all ages. There were "oldies but goodies" from the 1930's as well as the more contemporary number "You've Got A Friend". Acts included pantomimes, solos, dancing, and a barbershop quartet. As for the quality of the show one only had to see the jam-packed O.J. Work Auditorium and hear the enormous applause to know that the Choir's long hours of practice were worth the effort.

An attractive backdrop was provided by the art classes.

Guest Soloists Add Variety To Band Concert

Beethoven, Sousa, Bach, Wagner and Hayden are just a few of the greats that can be heard during a band concert. Marching band takes a lot of hard work and so does concert band. The winter and spring concerts included selections from the classical period up to present day jazz. Try-outs are conducted in early November and the top players from each section begin long hours of practice for the District Competition in late March. This year the band received a I—excellent rating at districts.

Band concerts do not consist of just playing musical selections. In "Concerto for Faculty", four members of the administration showed off their musical talents and abilities. Band concerts help the band raise money for their trips. Music is the universal language and it is for the whole world to enjoy.

Mr. McIllvaine is presented the Chippewa Conference trophy by Mr. Spechalske.

Under a hot noon sun, mingled with thousands of strangers, some 175 members of the senior class waited to be admitted with their $3.00 discount tickets. For many seniors, it was the last time that they would meet together for a carefree day of laughter, fun and good times. It was a day of adventure—exploring darkest Africa and marveling at Frontier Town. For awhile, they became race car drivers, safari guides, spacemen, miners, great white hunters and cowboy pokes. Since it was a scorcher, the most popular rides were the "Blue Streak", "Mill Race" and "Shoot the Rapids" which brought with them cooling wind or water. The dispersed class of '73 assembled together and left for home promptly at 5:00 laden down with souvenirs and stuffed animals. As the sun set, aching feet were forgotten and fond memories were stored to linger over in future times.

There just isn't enough thrill in the Octopus for C. Huegle and K. McWhorter.

UGH! is expressed by these bored seniors on their first day out of school.

Mr. McIlvaine, better known as "Sexy Rexy" tries to arrange unhelpful seniors.

It was a very warm and misty Sunday evening especially for those seniors buried under blue gowns and sitting under the hot stage lights in the O.J. Work Auditorium. Parents, relatives and friends filed in at 8:00 and were anxious to see that special person walk down the aisle to "Pomp and Circumstance". The audience enthusiastically applauded N.F.L. President Steve Bailey's remarks about peace. Following a song by nine choir members, Student Council and N.H.S. President Kevin McWhorter addressed the group with a speech about the value of life. A piano solo was then provided by Lori Roebuck and "Desiderata" was read by the Secretary-Treasurer Germaine Bennett. Baccalaureate closed with the benediction by Janet Stich.

The senior class also enjoyed receiving plaques, containing the class flower and motto, made by some of the senior mothers with the help of the Et Cetera Shop.

Wadsworth's Largest Graduating

If you can't hear Jed Merz, you can easily see him.

With an "A" year average during all of high school, Joetta McQueen earned No. 1 in class ranking.

They heard their name called and suddenly the time had come. Their parents, teachers, friends and fellow classmates watched as each one strode across the platform to receive their diploma. Amid some camera flashes and applause, they shook hands with Mr. Reid Lesser and accepted the symbol of having satisfactorily completed twelve years of formal classroom education.

When all had walked off the platform, their next act was deeply meaningful. They took their tassel and moved it over to the left side of the cap. A milestone had been reached in their life and they discovered a bittersweet feeling inside. This was the crossroads.

So, by now, they've taken their first step down life's pathway along with three million other young graduates. But, one question remains. What will their lives be?—a farce or a force?

Kathy Jewell's pensive mood was typical in other seniors.

'72 graduates Steve Wiles and Dave DeHaan refill their plates during the coketail hour.

D. Britton and R. Keel enjoyed all the dances.

Kathy Slabaugh likes the sweet nothings whispered in her ear by Dave Maffei.

Snowflakes didn't stifle the class of '73 as they met together at the Norton Brown Derby for coketails and picture taking. Later, seniors danced to a variety of music provided by "Patchwork". Although dancing was slow in the beginning, everyone got in the action sooner or later, and a few dared their tuxes and gowns for some fast tunes. Ballots were distributed, collected and tallied with the result of Jeff Vasiloff and Gail Jurey reigning as King and Queen. Next, a steak dinner was served. At 1:00 a.m., after a change of clothes, seniors formed a long car caravan and left for the Akron Coliseum. Parents did an excellent job of preparing eats and decorating to the Rock-n-Roll Revival theme. A lottery was held and the gals got plenty of souvenirs varying from records to old coins. The miniature golf course, pinball machines, pool tables, and bowling lanes were continually busy until 5:00 a.m. You just had to be there!

Privilege For All Seniors

Seniors Jed Merz and Mike O'Neil are ready to take advantage of senior privilege.

The purpose of Student Council is to provide the students with a communication line to the administration. Such communication led to a Senior privilege which allowed all Seniors to leave school during their study halls.

But Council's action wasn't limited just to school problems; it extended to those of the less fortunate. WHS collected over $2000 total in two marches in which it participated—March of Dimes and Cystic Fibrosis. This earned WHS a first and a third in the county, respectively. Other projects included the Homecoming dance, a memorial to Mrs. Murray, and a Heart Fund drive.

Peg Brannigan and Faye Weber discuss problems in their speeches with Mr. John Aul.

N.F.L. President senior Steve Bailey was the individual events leading trophy winner in Original Oratory.

The 1972-73 Forensics season proved to be very successful in individual events and debate. New individual events coach, Mr. Aul, led the team to first place honors at Hoban, St. Thomas Aquinas and Akron Little Districts. Wadsworth was one of the top five teams in all 13 tournaments. Mr. Miller coached the debate team to several top place finishes. Highlights of the year were a first place finish at Canton Central Catholic and second place at Akron Little Districts which qualified them for the State tournament. This year Wadsworth qualified 13 people for the State tournament which tied a previous record. Semifinalists were Lori Goodson and Faye Weber. Two speakers made it to the final round; Steve Bailey placed fifth in Original Oratory and Janet Stich placed fourth in Girls' Extemp. Since a majority of the team is composed of talented underclassmen next year should prove to be even more successful.

A picture of the 1973 debaters was unable to be taken, but their names will be listed. Varsity: L. Bajec, J. Blake, K. McWhorter, M. Nafziger. Junior Varsity: D. Chaney, P. McGill, D. Kilgour, A. Nice, M. Pinsoneault, T. Spry, J. Sterling.

FBLA activities began with a visit to the Ice Capades at the Cleveland Arena on October 5, 1972 and concluded March 4, 1973 at the state FBLA Convention in Columbus.

The District Contests were held November 11, 1972 at Euclid High School with Kathy Wolf taking third place in Booking II, and Sandy Hooser taking third place in Clerical.

At the Tree Trimming party on December 13, 1972 Cathy Gigandet was chosen Miss Snowball and Tom Mumaw, Mr. Snowball.

FBLA, although not a service organization, is always community-minded. This year in December they organized a Christmas party for the children's ward at Applecreek.

With a total of 80 members, President Denise Winters is busy; however, this is one of the few organizations which has more than one Vice President. They are Charlotte Johnson, Darla Hawkins, Julie Jacobson and Paula Wheeland. The minutes of each meeting are kept by Vera Deaser. Sandy Hooser handles the financial aspect of the organization and Cathy Batdorff is the FBLA Reporter.

While the earth was still shaking from the news of Life magazine's bankruptcy, another bombshell struck Wadsworth in the form of the death of the Bruin. In its place came a young monthly, The Broad Street Journal, which was destined to become the school's first successful paper in eons. Under the counsel and aid of adviser June Linson, the newly formed journalism class accomplished the task of putting out a 15 cent copy of the Journal every month.

With additional features and columns supplementing the school news in each issue, and with green writers blooming into experienced journalists, by the end of its first year of publication, the Journal had rounded into a first-class gazette comparable to any school paper in the area.

The new monthly was accompanied by the addition of a journalism class to the school's curriculum. The basic objective of the class was the learning of different styles of writing, the course provides yet another field of interest for WHS students.

As usual, our faithful editor is hard at work.

Fifty-nine years ago, in 1914, the first yearbook was published at Wadsworth. It was christened the Whisperer simply because that name contained the letters WHS for Wadsworth high school. It was less than 100 pages long and had only 17 pages of pictures. Since then, the Whisperer has come a long way. To make a good yearbook, a lot of hard work, imagination and money is involved. I'd like to thank this year's hard-working, imaginative staff and advisor, Miss Sonnanstine. By overcoming frustration with determination, we received our pay—a feeling of pride in accomplishment.

Absorb these memories for they are yours.

In an evening ceremony, the National Honor Society inducted 58 new members, making the total membership 94. Six members spent one day at Triway High School, and six Triway students had the opportunity to observe Wadsworth during the N.H.S. exchange program. The club also assisted at the Medina County College Night. Many WHS students received personal aid through tutoring, another activity of N.H.S. Their most successful project was bringing cheer to the elderly at the Wads. Health Center. Every other week, on Tuesdays from 3:00-4:30, seniors supervised bingo games for the patients. Small prizes were awarded to the winners. Both parties benefited from this experience. It was one of the worthier service projects provided by N.H.S.

Nurse Teens Aid Community

Through volunteer work the Nurse Teens aid at Wadsworth-Rittman Hospital. Helping to feed patients, distribute drinking water and trays to patients, occasionally cleaning and rearranging rooms and assisting in the admitting and discharging of patients are the common duties performed by the girls.

The girls keep the school clinic neat and orderly also. Each month the girls perform special duties. At Christmas time the girls mail Christmas cards to servicemen overseas and they donate toys to the Salvation Army. Spreading joy and sharing their love with others to brighten the days of many people are all part of the Nurse Teens duties.

W.H.S. Library

Mrs. Fraley checks on overdue books.

"Students and teachers come first" is Mrs. Longfield's philosophy. In actuality students have found Mrs. Longfield able, ready, and willing to assist them in every way she possibly can. Although she naturally assumes the responsibility for the technicalities of a functioning library such as purchasing and cataloguing new books, her main concern is that the library be fully used. For, even a super-organized, well-stocked library is of very little value if it remains unused.

Thus, in order to make the library a friendly place to be, many innovations have been employed. For the purpose of arousing the students' interest in reading and books, a Book Fair was conducted from November 16 thru 22, at which 1100 paperbacks were sold at reduced prices. No profit for the library was involved in this new venture, but rather the idea was to make books available to students so that perhaps some sparks of interest in reading could be kindled. Mrs. Longfield considers the success of the Book Fair a start towards increasing the use of the library.

Being gaily decorated with several Christmas trees, both live and artificial, and decked with sparkling tinsel streamers and red and green paper loop chains, the library heartwarmingly expressed the festive spirit of the holiday season.

Several other minor changes have also been completed. The tables and carrels have been creatively arranged so that the atmosphere is more relaxed. To facilitate the returning of books and to protect the students, a new book drop has also been added.

Our library is becoming the nucleus of our school—the place where new worlds filled with innumerable treasures are just waiting to be discovered.

During the book fair Mrs. Longfield computes the prices for students anxious to read.

This live Christmas tree made the library a happy place.

Chess Club And Listening Center Operators Take Work Seriously

Lyle Messner

Are you interested in Shelly, electrolysis, or French? Mr. Messner has trained his staff to help you at the listening center.

The Chess Club originated when several students wanted to play serious matches. They had some tough competition. So far they have returned untriumphed. The club has been in existence for one year.

Student teachers get a taste of the real thing. They bring new ideas and methods with them. They spend nine weeks in the classroom. First they observe then they do the actual teaching.

Under the expertise of director Gene Lawrence, the Wadsworth High vocal groups provided the community with diversified entertainment. The Freshman Chorus, the Girls' Ensemble, and the High School Choir joined together in two concerts. The first was in December, featuring festive Christmas carols and the all-time favorite—the Hallelujah Chorus of Handel's Messiah. The second concert centered around love and devotional themes. In March, the choir traveled to Peninsula to participate in a vocal contest with other schools and barely missed getting a No. 1 rating.

Donkey B-ball Game A Success

The Shaw Brothers' Donkey Basketball game was profitable, not only for the Teacher Aides who sponsored it, but also for the many students and adults from the community who enjoyed the antics. The laughter from persons 3 to 43 was heard Saturday night, November 28 in the W.H.S. gym.

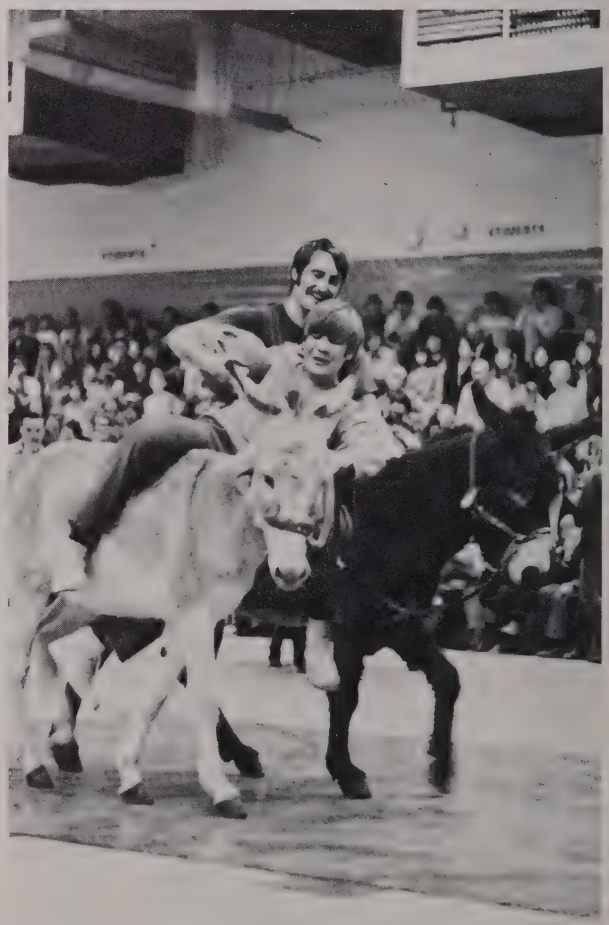
The donkeys' behavior was unpredictable; excitement ranged from Miss Bancheek's fantastic riding to Dave Henry's head over heels act.

Participating on the faculty team were Mrs. Back, Miss Bancheek, Mr. Beichler, Miss Cole, Mr. Hall, Miss Beskitt, Mr. Manfull, Mr. "O", Mrs. Parrillo, Mr Petty and Mrs. Radke. The student participants were Seniors: Captain, Jed Merz; Dan Foy, Dave Henry, Mark Sipp; Juniors: Kenny Lemon, Roy Boyes, Don Butzer; Sophomores: Kelly Collins, Steve French, Tom Crowley; Freshmen: Betty Harder and Jerry Gaugler.

Strength was tested when Mr. Beichler tried to get the ball from a student rival.

Miss Beskitt smiles at her donkey's antics.

Mr. Petty attempts to mount one of the main attractions.



Mr. McIlvaine's face registers surprise as a student rival side swipes him.

Mrs. Radke gives a jolt on the reigns as the action shifts sides.

Miss Beskitt (top), Miss Cole and Mrs. Parrillo create a fine half time show.

Dave Henry heads for the floor after the collision of two stubborn donkeys.

Captain Jed Merz keeps a watchful eye on his opponents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ames listen to Miss Campo's explanation of Spanish II.

Welcoming parents, Mr. Rice explains the open house schedule.

D.E.'s display, under Mr. Petty's leadership, attracted much interest.

Totally dedicated to Chemistry, Mr. Krieder finds time at open house to explain his grading system.

Mr. Whitt discusses sophomore English with Mr. and Mrs. Kinsley.

Open House, jointly sponsored by the High School and the Wadsworth Home, Youth and School organization, was held on October 24, 1972. More than 700 parents gathered in the high school gym to be welcomed by WHYS President Mr. Rice. Parents were given schedules, permitting them to follow their child's activities, visit their classrooms and meet their teachers.

A highlight of the Open House was the Midway set up in the cafeteria and the commons by more than twenty of the high school's clubs and organizations. During a study period, parents browsed through the displays and were served refreshments courtesy of Student Council and the Home Ec. Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Seifert find Mr. Shaffer's government class interesting.

Five days out of the week from June to November, the majorettes practice twice a day! They are busy learning strutting routines, twirling routines, dance novelty numbers, a fire routine and three half time shows. But, the hot, long summer practices were well worth it. Smiles replace tension as they perform in parades, pep rallies, half time shows and Tri-County competition. The first four year majorettes at WHS are Cathy McConnell and Mary Ellen Smith.

Varsity Cheerleaders Urge The "Return of the Grizzly"

Debbie Peronis

Melissa Police

Cindy Salay

"Return of the Grizzly" was their theme. Not only did the grizzly return, but he brought with him a renewed spirit, a conference crown, and a permanent place in WHS history for the 1972-73 Varsity Cheerleaders. Their smiles, enthusiasm, and precision earned a red ribbon, excellent, three blue ribbons, superior, a first place trophy, and the coveted Coca-Cola Award naming them the district champions at the National Cheerleaders Association's Golden Eagle camp during the summer at Wittenburg College. They were the first squad to cheer for the incoming Coach Sladky and the last for the retiring Coach Mast. The year holds many memories for these six girls. And, in return, they will always be remembered as the squad that helped return the grizzly to his rightful position of No. 1.

Instead of helping, Cindy is content to just watch the others set-up the Bear.

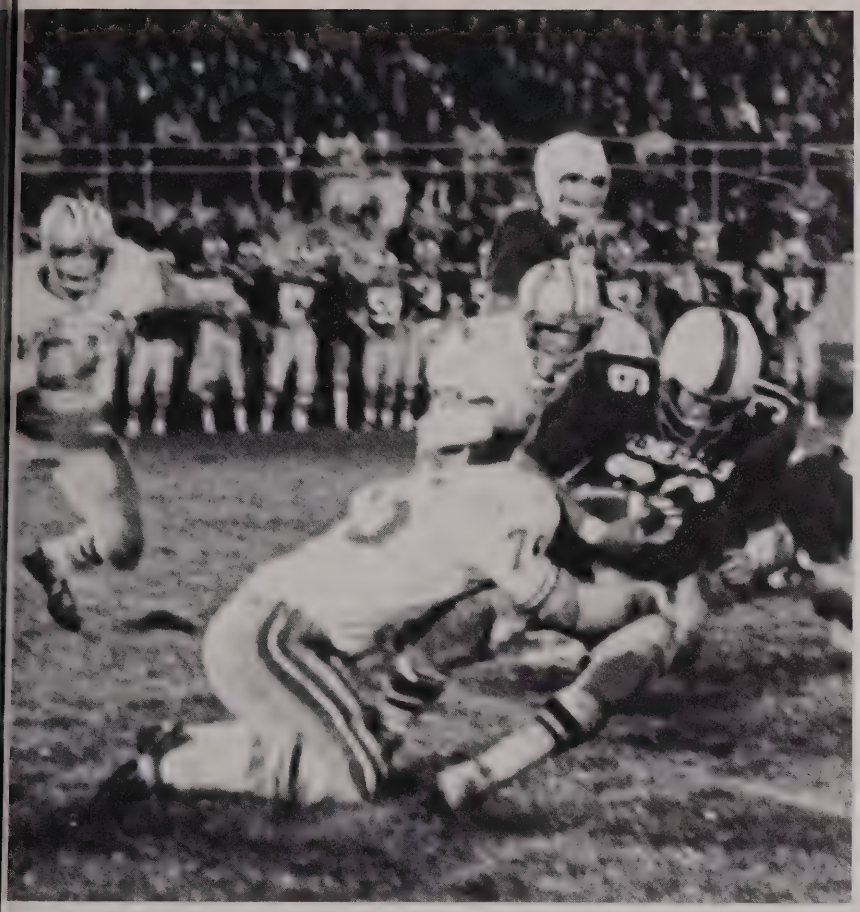
1972—The Year The

"The Year The Grizzly Returned" best summarizes the 1972 football season. Establishing their season goals early in January, the squad worked hard during the winter weight and summer fitness programs to lay the groundwork to accomplish them. Most of these goals, including the Chippewa Conference Championship, were accomplished. The team achieved a fine 7-3 record losing close games to Wooster, Brunswick and Medina in the final 53 and 13 seconds, respectively.

The Grizzlies combined a balanced offense, led by the passing wizardry of quarterback Blaine Guy and the slashing running of talented tailback Steve Watson, with a solid defense led by linebackers John Maffei, and Phil Pearthree and all-district lineman Jim Otanicar. Eight players were named to the All-Chippewa Conference team and four more received honorable mention.

The future of Wadsworth Football looks bright thanks to Coach Mast's willingness to devote so much time and effort to get the team together. WHS gridders have been more than willing to cooperate with Mast in order to complete a rewarding season. Coach Mast is greatly appreciated for the six years he has served as head coach.



All-district defensive end Jim Otanicar exhibits his talent against the Wooster Generals.

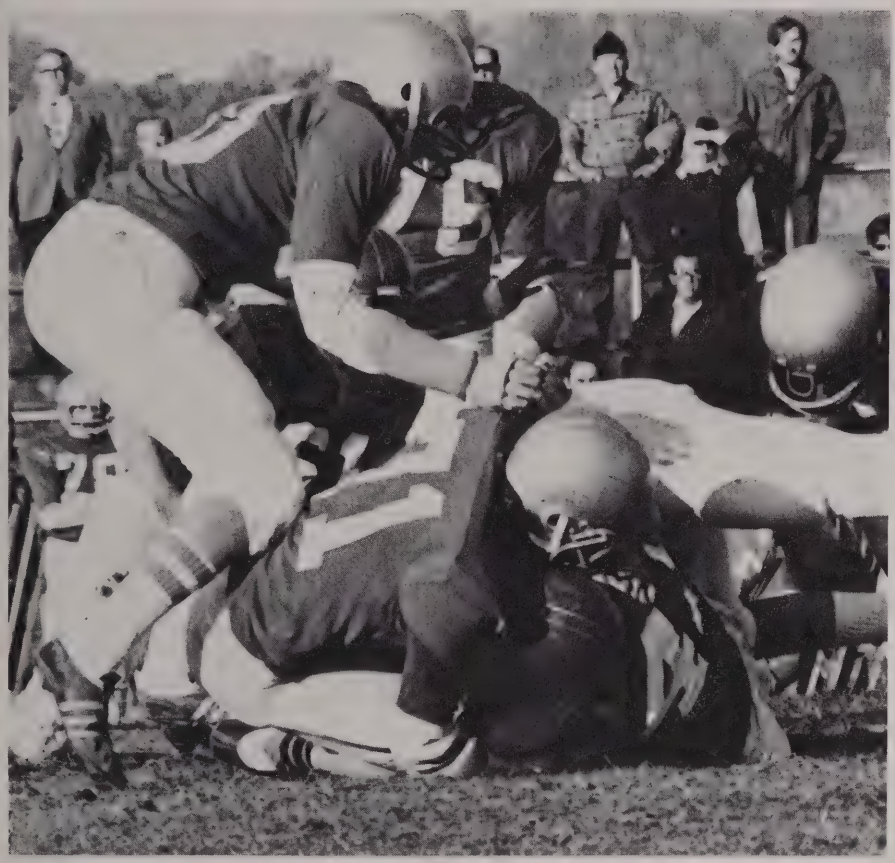
By Tackling Tough Competition



As Howard Cosell would say, "Football is a brutal sport."

Facing one of the toughest schedules in history, the JV's lost to Akron powers Kenmore and Hoban early in the season. Despite injuries to several key people and a lack of size, the team worked hard, played aggressively and finished 7-3-1. Members of this year's reserve team who seem to have a chance to make great contributions to future Grizzly teams are: Larry Esterle, quarterback; Bob Kilmer, fullback; Dennis Thombs, end; and Jeff Godsey, guard. Mr. T. Hampton and D. Sladky were coaches.

The outstanding factor of the 1972 season was the defensive record accumulated by the freshmen. Of the seven teams played, six were shut out. Only three touchdowns were permitted the entire season, all of those in the defeat at Highland. The squad also won two B games with Norwayne. Nine boys shared in the scoring this year: Skip Cole, Mark Minehart, Scott Fletcher, Dan Dorner, Mike Dunn, Bill Goddard, Nick Rusyn, Brian Waltz, and Terry Spoonster. This is encouraging for the varsity and reserve coaches. Freshmen coaches were R. Casey, R. Hall, and D. Rothaker.

Led by senior three-year lettermen Tom Kulscar, Jon Rigden, and Ken Trent, the Wadsworth cross-country team ran up a record of 15-2 dual to quint meets and for the third consecutive time, won the Chippewa Conference crown, this year by capturing five of the top seven places. In addition, Coach Oehlenschlager's boys took second place in a field of 17 schools in the Ohio University Distance Classic, finishing behind the strong Austintown Fitch. Other meet standings included a third at the Hoban Invitational a tenth in 32 schools at Malone and a fourth at Ashland in their annual cross-country invitational.

The harriers failed for the first time in three years to compete in the state tournament, being edged out of second by Kent Roosevelt at the sectionals. Ken Trent did, however, qualify for district competition and finished 17th.

The reserves also did well, winning the Conference title and finishing the season with a 3-3 tally.

Barb. & Lehman Rile Grizzlies

The Super Motormouse, alias Kim Kinsley, exhibits his talents in a tense Barberton game.

Jim Swain tries to pass to Darrell Easterling as the Wooster Generals close in.

The Grizzlies finished the season with a fine 12-8 record and a third place finish in the Chippewa Conference. Playing a very difficult schedule, the Grizzlies started the season with two victories and then lost to the No. 1 and No. 2 ranked teams in the state, Barberton and Canton Lehman, in two fiercely competitive games. The Bears showed signs of better things to come as they had outstanding wins against Copley, Rittman, and Cloverleaf and although losing some close games, it was only a matter of time before they put things together. In the last eight regular season games, only the loss to Medina marred a tremendous second half season comeback as the team avenged an earlier loss to Triway and beat Cardinal Conference champion Wooster during the span.

The Big Red's aggressive style of play was highlighted by excellent teamwork and gave us some exciting moments climaxed by the games at the Copley Sectional Tourney when we beat Tallmadge 67-64 and gave Barberton a great game even though coming out on the short end of the 70-55 score.

All the members of the squad contributed to the team improvement and notched one of Wadsworth's best basketball records in their history. We will miss seniors Bob Everhard, Darrell Easterling, and Co-captains Brad Little, Jim Swain, and Kim Kinsley's exciting play. Congratulations to Kim Kinsley and Jim Swain for gaining all-league honors and thanks to the whole team for an excellent effort.

JV's Hot After Win Over Lehman

The reserve squad had a rough time early in the season but was encouraged by its win over the strong Canton Lehman team. This seemed to be the spark, for after Christmas vacation, the Jayvees won 10 of the remaining 12 games, making a final record of 11-7. Mr. Casey was coach.

The ninth grade basketball team enjoyed one of its finer seasons under the direction of Coach Sprankle. The frosh finished second in the conference with a 7-3 campaign and overall had a 10-6 record.

Displaying fine defense, the young Grizzlies yielded their opponents only 28.7 points per game. At the same time, they were scoring a 32.0 point per game average. Bill Goddard with a 10.8 point per game average was leading scorer until sidelined with a broken arm. Aiding Goddard in the scoring department was Mike Flippo with a 6.6 point per game average and Neil Wenger with a 5.3. In rebounds, Mike Dunn was tops.

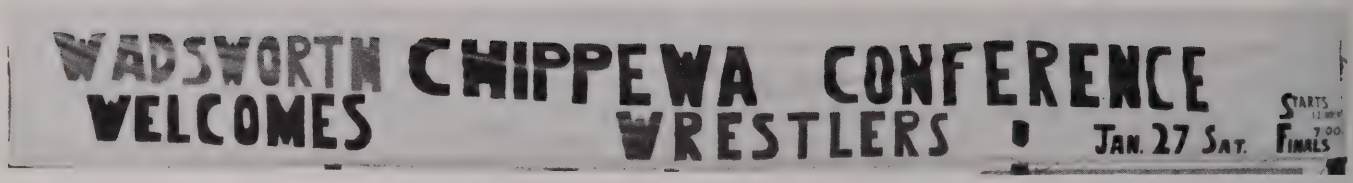
Many Potentials For Varsity



Pat O'Neill is determined to manhandle this Cloverleaf opponent.

The Chippewa Conference was held in Wadsworth for the '72-'73 season and the Grizzlies held their ground by claiming three individual championships, and 2nd place team finish. The grapplers also participated in the Coventry tournament for the first time and placed 4th out of a field of 12 schools. Tremendous dual meet victories over Norton (previously 24-0) and Highland highlighted the season. Four wrestlers, Pat O'Neill, Dan Bricker, Jeff Romanoff, and Jeff Vasiloff carried Wadsworth's hopes into the District tourney by winning at Sectionals, and two of them missed a trip to Columbus by just one match. Like any season, there were some disappointments, but the team record of 6-5 prove it was a successful season.

As was commonplace this season, Dan Bricker had control of his opponents.

Mental preparation, as well as physical, is a Jeff Vasiloff trait.

The team started the season with most of the wrestlers being in the lower weight classes. As a result, the heavier boys had to wrestle a weight class or two higher than their body weight. Between forfeiting weight classes or having boys wrestling up a weight class, the JV's compiled a 5-4-1 record with several boys placing in the Cloverleaf Tournament. Again, the Reserves were coached by Greg Gilmore.

Reserve Grizzly matman tries everything he can for a pin.

Wrestling is very demanding, but satisfying. The accomplishment of out-thinking, out-manuevering and out-lasting a man of equal ability is what the sport is all about. It was a hard fight all year long to end up with a winning season. The young Grizzlies had a tough schedule but, they met it with determination and success. A member of the All Conference Team, Larry Esterle swings hard.

When pitching, Ted Givens gives it all he's got.

Mark Daniels easily tags second base.

Voted most valuable pitcher and a member of the All Conference Team, Jack McGill isn't going to let this opponent steal.

Sometimes lonely,

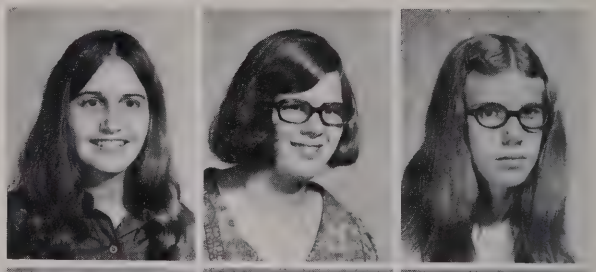
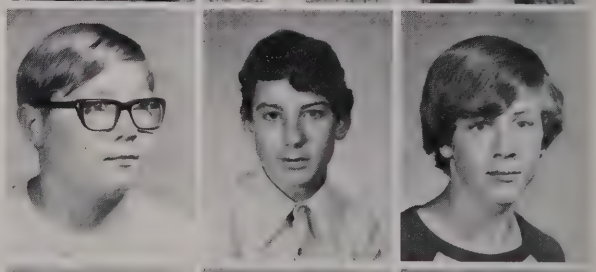
Frosh Sparkle In School Events





Decifering computerized schedules and learning the rules and regulations at Freshmen orientation were confusing but necessary steps in the process of becoming part of W.H.S. I.P.S., lectures, Spanish, Introduction to business and Algebra, posed entire new worlds of exploration for Freshmen.

Low men on the totem pole, the class of '76 not only participated, but captured outstanding places in the rostrum of W.H.S. extracurricular activities. The freshmen gymnastics team learned through strained muscles and tears that being a gymnast takes hard work and determination. In football, the roaring grizzlies ended the season with a record of 6-1, allowing only one school to even score against them. The freshmen outnumbered upperclassmen in National Forensics. Of the twenty freshmen members, eleven received trophies.

In fact, the freshmen were so active in all school activities that it was not discovered until February, that class officers had not been elected. Class Advisors are Mr. Moine, Mr. Harter, Miss Campo, Mr. Wood, and Mrs. Baćk.

Freshmen Class Officers: President, Jeff Linson; V. President, Scot Fletcher; Treasurer, Sherry Martin; Secretary, Lucy Stroud.

340 Sophomores Enroll In Dr's Ed.

Sophomore Class Officers: Brian Vasiloff, Mrs. Northey, Lisa Pisanelli, and Jill Calame.

With a total of 384 students, the class of '75 was the second largest at W.H.S. Struggling over geometric theorems and kingdoms and their phylums unified the sophomores with a common bond. Although not new to Wadsworth High, the sophs still found unique experiences in day-to-day life. Students participated for the first time in varsity sports and continued to prove W.H.S. number one. Backing the teams provided for a sense of pride. Sophomore activities such as ordering rings and summer driving classes, in which 340 students participated, provided excitement and new experiences. President, Brian Vasiloff; Vice-President, Lisa Pisonalli; and Secretary-Treasurer, Jill Calame are under advisors, Mrs. Northey, Mr. Whitt, Coach "O", and Coach McMillan.

Enthusiasm And Pride Typify '74

Returning juniors focused on their middle year, enjoying the freedom and the variety of choices it posed. For the first time, upper class cafeteria study hall was disbanded, and juniors had the privilege of choosing whether they wished to go to the commons, the library or remain in the cafeteria as an honor study hall. With this privilege came the responsibility of making the honor study hall work successfully.

Aided by advisors, Miss Bancheek and Mr. Gorman, the determination of 378 juniors resulted in a profitable magazine sale with most proceeds going to finance the junior banquet held on May 18th at the Brown Derby.

Nearly 200 juniors participated in the College Entrance Exam and PSAT. The ambition and drive of the juniors was manifested not only in their desire for academic excellence, but also in their extracurricular efforts. The enthusiasm generated at Pep rallies was displayed by spirit filled juniors who outnumbered all other members in Pep Club.

Class officers were: Gary Riggs, President; Jan Beaver, Vice President, and Ruth Weber, Secretary-Treasurer.

MOTTO: "If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is becuase he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music he hears, however measured or however far away."

—Henry D. Thoreau

The Senior Class—335 pioneers in a new world. The first class to walk on the campus as freshmen was also the first to elect a girl president. It excelled in the arts, vocations, academics and sports. And most important, it was the first in ten years to see Peace in Vietnam. At last, Uncle Sam would not uniform its boys before they could enjoy their new freedom—where they could truly step to their own music.

The Whisperer staff wishes to recognize the efforts of Rick Bolton, our photographer and member of the graduating class. He has willingly given his time and talent to record the history of W.H.S.: 1973. The staff also appreciates Rick Pirman's hand-lettered treatment of the theme which gave our yearbook a personal touch. The staff also wishes to express appreciation to Ian Rosenthal of Sylvart's Studio for his assistance in capturing in color the essence of our theme. A special thanks to Paul Retrum, our Publisher's representative, for his vision and guidance in the technicalities of producing the 1973 Whisperer.

Remembered times of Listening . . . Seeing
Sharing . . .
Touching . . .
are not lost,
but joys again.
